Illinois PHCC is Planning for CEU Classes to Go Online

Attention PCA of Greater Chicago member contractors:

The Illinois PHCC will soon be offering continuing education for licensed plumbers virtually. With the ongoing pandemic, the IDPH is temporarily allowing classes to be held online. There are specific requirements that must be met in order to conduct classes in that manner and the Illinois PHCC is currently working on compliance. All the Illinois PHCC online classes will also be State approved hours for Certified Plumbing Inspectors.

Once these classes are scheduled and available, the Illinois PHCC will be announcing it on its website at iphcc.com, the Illinois PHCC Facebook page, and sending out emails.

The PCA of Greater Chicago – which is the sole and exclusive plumbing contractors association in our 17-county area jurisdiction that is the official local chapter of both the Illinois and National PHCC (Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors Association) – will publicize to our members all information that is pertinent to the online classes to be offered by the state chapter for approved CE credit as soon as it becomes available.

PCA Welcomes Kimberly McNamara

Our Association is pleased to announce that joining the PCA of Greater Chicago staff as of February 1, 2021 is our new Administrative Assistant, Kimberly McNamara. Kimberly comes to the PCA well-prepared. Her prior experience includes over two decades as a key employee of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association both as Executive Assistant to the President and Director of Conferences, as well as previous positions with the American Academy of Sleep Medicine, the Sleep Research Society, and the Cable TV & Communications Association.
